EDITION 362 – TUESDAY, 28 MARCH 2023

JOHN PITCHES FOR SECOND CLUB CHAMPIONSHIP

John Lloyd will be trying to replicate his championship victory of 2020 after a hard fought win over Ole Hostrup in the first semi-final last Wednesday.

After 13 ends the match was locked on 11 apiece before John broke the deadlock with a single followed by a flush four points and two more singles to establish a break 18:11. John rolled long, which seemed to foil Ole's progress, winning three consecutive ends to win an entertaining match 25:12.

Ole has been in the best form of his career scoring three convincing wins in the championship to challenge past champion John for a finals position.

John will play Chris Sinclair in the final which has been tentatively set for Easter Sunday.

DEON INTO HIS FIRST MINOR SINGLES FINAL

Another great match slipped under the radar when Deon Van Niekerk and Glenn Boardman played for a privileged final’s spot in the Minor Singles.

Glenn, bowling confidently, set a up a commanding lead of 15:7 after 14 ends. Deon then turned the match upside down winning 7 consecutive ends and adding 11 points to his tally to lead 18:15. Undaunted, Glenn fought back with 3 ends and 5 points to regain the lead 20:18 and it was heading for a cliffhanger finish! Or was it? No. Deon rolled two superb ends to claim victory 25:20 over a gallant foe.

Deon will play Matt Lake in the final on a date to be finalised.

Kevin was in great form early on stamping his authority win a 10 pointer on the 1st end and all but catching up with Jenny after 14 ends, trailing 54:56.

In a great comeback Jenny won 11 of the next 17 ends (1 end drawn) to post a great win 150:130 over a bemused Kevin.

In a first round match Howard Lee was unlucky to catch Peter Zucconi at the apex of his best form. Peter conceded Howard 15 points on handicap.

Such was Peter's good form he reached the lead 18:17 after 5 ends and from that point the match was never in doubt. Having said that Howard also bowled extremely well for a relative newcomer to bowling unfortunately catching Peter on one of his best days.

Newport won only 7 ends and were held to one point on each of those ends. Quite an impressive performance!

At the other end of the scale Robert Campbell (skip), Ray Moran (3rd), Deon Van Niekerk (2nd) and Andrew Gordon (lead) had an unfortunate afternoon on the green winning 4 ends for 4 points in their loss to Newport who scored 29 points.

Kevin Mulhall (skip), Vic Solway (3rd), Simon Kinsman (2nd) and John Bowring (lead) won enough ends to win most matches, however, the card showed that they bled two 5 pointers and two 4 pointers greatly contributing to their surprise loss 22:23.

OZ DESTINATIONS – Coledale, NSW

Pleasant coastal village north of Wollongong.

Coledale is one of the many historic coal mining villages which lie north of Wollongong and stretch along Lawrence Hargrave Drive. The villages all lie in a narrow band of relatively flat land between the sheer cliffs of the Illawarra Escarpment and the Tasman Sea. The main appeal of Coledale are the beaches - Coledale and Sharky's - which are edged by fascinating rock platforms which are dotted with small rock pools. On the edge of the escarpment there are small areas of rainforest characterised by flowering eucalypts, cabbage tree palm, red cedar, lillypilly and tree ferns.

Location

Coledale is located 68 km south of Sydney via the M1 (F6 - now the Princes Motorway), turning off at Stanwell Tops and driving south along the coast road. A more scenic route is via the Royal National Park. It is 79 km.

Population: 1,260 (2016 census) Elevation: 21 m (69 ft)

Origin of Name

Coledale is an interesting example of the Australian tendency to name a town "the bleeding obvious" combined with what appears to be a spelling mistake. The name first appeared in 1902 when the railway station and a post and telegraph office were named Coledale. It is now accepted that everyone got it wrong. It should have been Coaldale.

The Comradeship Sculpture

An impressive sculpture is located on the northern headland above Coledale Beach. The reserve, with its glorious views over the Pacific, is dedicated to Mike Dwyer, a teacher, community activist and union leader who was President of the South Coast Labour Council from 1992-2000. When he died in 2001, after fighting cancer for 15 years, his friends were determined to honour his life. It is wonderfully fitting that the reserve is over the road from Coledale Hospital where Dwyer was born and where, in 1995, he led a three month-long campaign to stop it being privatised. The sculpture, titled Comradeship, is cleverly ambiguous. On an obvious level it is a sailing boat. On another level it looks like two cupped hands ready to enfold and protect the world.

Beaches

Coledale is an ideal summer destination as it has two good beaches - Coledale and Sharky's - and it is rarely overrun by crowds. The appeal is obvious. Both beaches are long, have plenty of parking space and are edged by rock platforms. The main beach has a grassy verge which is ideal for picnics. It also has a surf lifesaving club and a good ocean pool.

History

- * In 1770 Captain James Cook sailed up the coast. Cook attempted to land in the Illawarra but was forced to abandon his plans because of the heavy surf that was running at the time.
- * Shortly after the settlement of Port Jackson in 1788 George Bass and Matthew Flinders, accompanied by their servant William Martin, sailed down the coast in an eight-foot (2.4 m) rowing boat, Tom Thumb, in 1796.
- * In 1797 the survivors of the Sydney Cove traversed the area on their walk from the coast of Victoria. The vessel had been beached on the Furneaux Islands in Bass Strait. A boat was launched with seventeen of the crew but it was wrecked at Point Hicks. The survivors started walking north to Port Jackson but only three survived.
- * In August 1797 George Bass sought Governor Hunter's permission to take two of the three survivors from the Sydney Cove and return to the Illawarra to investigate the survivor's reports of coal in the area. He set out in Governor Hunter's whaleboat and discovered coal at what is now known as Coalcliff. The journey lasted only eight days.
- * Land at Coledale was granted to John Carn, Robert Westmacott, and William Barton John Daly but there is no evidence they settled in the area. Thus Coledale, in the early days, was basically uninhabited bushland used for grazing cattle.
- * Things began to change in the 1860s as Austinmer began to be settled and a bush track was cut between Bulli and Clifton in 1868. This rough track was improved between 1879-1886 with the advent of a coal mine at Coalcliff. It eventually evolved into Lawrence Hargrave Drive.
- * A notable early Coledale businessman was Clem Carrick who ran a one-man sawmill, Coledale Timbers Ltd, for 22 years.
- * The small population in the area increased when the North Illawarra Coal Company opened the North Bulli mine in 1886.
- * A railway line between Wollongong and Clifton opened in 1887 but there was no railway station at Coledale. The nearest station was Bulli.

- * A mine opened in the area in 1889 but it closed in 1898 due to underground water problems. This mine evolved into the North Bulli Colliery (later renamed Coledale Colliery) which started operations in November 1903. The North Bulli Mine was successful and was soon employing 100 men. Coledale was surveyed in November 1903 and allotments sold by auction.
- * Coledale finally got its railway station in September 1902.
- * A coke works was built at Coledale in 1905, with fifty coke ovens producing 100 tons of coke each day. Another fifty were added by 1908. The mine was recognised as the third-largest in New South Wales in 1909.
- * In 1907 the Coledale Progress Association was formed and in 1908 Anglican, Catholic and Methodist churches, as well as a local school, were opened.
- * In 1910, John Simpson Kirkpatrick, the man with the donkey at the Gallipoli campaign, worked at the Coledale colliery.
- * A Surf Lifesaving Club started in 1913 and electricity arrived in 1914. Prior to 1914 only the Coledale mine manager had electricity in his home.
- * The Coledale Hospital opened in 1915 and silent movies were being screened at the Empire Hall by 1917. The Empire eventually closed in 1959.
- * The North Bulli Colliery closed down in 1926. It was re-opened in 1942 but finally closed in 1973.

This Is England

You could hear the British movie industry breathe a collective sigh of relief when writer-director Shane Meadows got the breakthrough hit he so richly deserved after much critical but little commercial success with his previous films. Clearly ripped from his own experiences, this rite-of-passage tale sees a naive, isolated youngster (Thomas Turgoose – a revelation) scooped up by some friendly skinheads and introduced to the joys of young love, ska, short hair and oversized, steel toe-capped Doc Martens. But Meadows’s film shows that this initially benign enclave was very different to the growing ranks of supporters of the National Front, even if their appearance was similar. The film established Meadows in a league of his own when it comes to naturalistic, comic dialogue and wringing sensitive performances from young cast members. It also confirmed him as a director whose predominant interest is in contrasting the invigorating highs and vicious lows of English working-class life.

"Oh, come on! How do you tell them apart?"

"Two were on a beer can, three were on the phone."

A man said to his wife, "Hey, guess what? This article says that women use twice as many words as men during a single day. I always told you that women talk more than men."

"There's a good reason for that," his wife replied. "Whatever we say to a man we have to repeat at least once."

OLDER AUSTRALIANS ENCOURAGED TO ROLL BACK THE CLOCK

Lane Cove Bowling and Recreation Club is taking a step towards curbing low physical activity rates among older Australians by encouraging them to "roll back the clock" through lawn bowls.

Roll Back the Clock is a Bowls Australia initiative, in partnership with Sport Australia, that aims to boost physical activity rates among Australians aged 65 and over through bowls, light exercise and education.

Presently, as little as 25-percent of Australians over-65 meet the Department of Health's physical activity guidelines of 30 minutes of activity per day.

Health-related reasons, including physical and mental health, are the main barriers for older Australians participating in sport or physical activities and bowls is seen as a low-impact, socially-inclusive activity that can be enjoyed by individuals of all ages.

Roll Back The Clock programs incorporate a two-part activity lasting 30 minutes each, targeting both the body and mind through bowls, functional training, fitness and wellness education, and socialisation.

Sessions are adapted for individuals, with benefits ranging from enabling participants to perform activities of daily life more easily, to withstanding injuries and providing a sense of accomplishment and achievement.

In addition to the physical health benefits, engaging in physical activity and group sports for older Australians provides increasingly important opportunities for socialisation, peer-support, and conversation that reduces the possibility for loneliness related physical and mental illnesses.

Roll Back The Clock will be staged regularly at Lane Cove Bowling and Recreation Club, over 3 weeks, commencing 28 March 2023. Cost: $20

🕒 The program will run from 2:00pm – 3:00pm on Tuesdays and combines exercise, wellness education, socialisation and little bit of bowls.
