MONICA AND VIC BOOK THEIR PLACE IN MIXED PAIRS FINAL

In a late surge to the finish line Monica Smith and Vic Solway booked their spot in the final of the Mixed Pairs competition with a well earned victory over Maureen Cosby and Rex Johnston.

At the half-way mark (11 ends) Monica and Vic led narrowly 9:7 before bagging a 5 pointer to extend their lead to 14:7.

Over the next six (6) ends Monica and Vic outscored Maureen and Rex 10 points to 4 when it was decided to adjourn to the bar with 3 ends remaining. Monica and Vic were in the ascendency at this stage leading 24:11 which was the final result.

The winners will meet reigning champions Kay Mulhall and Kevin Mulhall in what should be a booked out finale next Sunday at 1.00PM.

MAJOR SINGLES ROUND ONE REPORT

The first match of last week kicked off with a close encounter where Glenn Boardman prevailed over Brian Paxton 25:23. Glenn with 3 consecutive ends scoring 5 points had a break of 6 shots after 25 ends to lead 22:16 before Brian fought back to close the margin to a single to trail 22:23. Glenn then closed the game out with 2 shots.

Glenn will potentially play his wife Carole in round two.

1 point end	10	9
2-point end	6	2
3-point end	1	3

The match between Matt Lake and David Madson was an interesting one! Both players were drawing well and it was a close match after end 10 with Matt leading 10:8. Then!- with only the scorecard as a guide Matt did not allow David another point to go on to win 25:8.

Matt plays John Lloyd in round two.

Tyro bowler Deon Van Niekerk was in fine form against stalwart Ray Moran bowling to lead 19:7 after 15 ends before Ray made him work for his last 6 shots.

Deon's next match will be against Phil Wade.

In what was perhaps the best game of the round eight-time Club Champion Simon Creedy was up against the redoubtable Rex Johnston. Bowling consistently Rex established a handsome lead of 16:9 before Simon edged his way back into the match to trail 16:17 after 16 ends. Rex was drawing consistently, however, Simon managed to get one bowl in the count and scoring 3 points on end 23 put him into the lead for the first time 24:22 and it was game on! After seven bowls on the next end Rex was on his way to the next round holding game – Simon's only option with his last bowl was to draw – and draw he did to win an enthralling match 25:22.

Simon plays Greg Scott in the next round.

On a very hot and humid Sunday Andrew Gordon set up a substantial lead of 19:10, after 16 ends, against Greg Moon. However, chameleon-like Greg rolled off 16 shots to a bemused Andrew's 4 shots to go onto the next round where he will meet the winner of the Robert Campbell and Ole Hostrup match.

MINOR SINGLES ROUND ONE REPORT

Mark Burrough and John Bowring rolled off the Minor Singles competition last Friday in a closely contested match. John in a powerful start garnered a snappy 7 ends of the first 10 ends to lead 11:3. From that point on it was a real dogfight with Mark clawing his way back into the game to lead for the first time in the match 23:22 and both players were within game range. It was to be Mark's day in scoring the necessary points to go onto play Judy Carroll in the next round.

Statistics:

Player	M Burrough	J Bowring
Points	27	22
Ends	16	15
1 point end	8	9
2-point end	5	5
3-point end	3	1

Another match played in the oppressive conditions of last Sunday Simon Kinsman matched bowls with Monica Smith (coming off a Mixed Pairs win on Saturday).

Neophyte Simon in his first singles competition won through to the next round with a 27:16 win. Remarkably, both players won 13 ends apiece, however, Simon held

Monica to 1 shot on 12 of the ends that she won whilst adding multiplies to ends he won.

Simon meets Brian Paxton in round two.

OLDER AUSTRALIANS ENCOURAGED TO ROLL BACK THE CLOCK

Lane Cove Bowling and Recreation Club is taking a step towards curbing low physical activity rates among older Australians by encouraging them to "roll back the clock" through lawn bowls.

Roll Back the Clock is a Bowls Australia initiative, in partnership with Sport Australia, that aims to boost physical activity rates among Australians aged 65 and over through bowls, light exercise and education.

Presently, as little as 25-percent of Australians over-65 meet the Department of Health's physical activity guidelines of 30 minutes of activity per day.

Health-related reasons, including physical and mental health, are the main barriers for older Australians participating in sport or physical activities and bowls is seen as a low-impact, socially-inclusive activity that can be enjoyed by individuals of all ages.

Roll Back The Clock programs incorporate a two-part activity lasting 30 minutes each, targeting both the body and mind through bowls, functional training, fitness and wellness education, and socialisation.

Sessions are adapted for individuals, with benefits ranging from enabling participants to perform activities of daily life more easily, to withstanding injuries and providing a sense of accomplishment and achievement.

In addition to the physical health benefits, engaging in physical activity and group sports for older Australians provides increasingly important opportunities for socialisation, peer-support, and conversation that reduces the possibility for loneliness related physical and mental illnesses.

Roll Back The Clock will be staged regularly at Lane Cove Bowling and Recreation Club, over 8 weeks, commencing 7 February 2023.

🕒 The program will run from 12:00pm – 1:00pm on Tuesdays and combines exercise, wellness education, socialisation and little bit of bowls.

DESTINATIONS – Avenel, VIC

Historic town where Ned Kelly lived as a child.

Avenel was established in 1849 when the government offered land for sale adjacent a ford over Hughes Creek which had, for some years, been used as a camping place by drovers and teamsters travelling on the Old Sydney Road, established in 1839 as the overland mail route between Melbourne and Sydney.

Avenel grew rapidly as gold prospectors poured north driven by dreams of riches on the goldfields. By 1859 a substantial stone bridge had been built to meet the needs of the increased traffic. Around this time the Royal Mail Hotel was built near the bridge. Avenel's most famous citizen was Ned Kelly.

Origin of Name

In the 1830s the area around Avenel was settled by Henry Kent Hughes who named his property 'Avenel' after an aristocratic English family. Hughes may well have been inspired by a popular novel, The Monastery, published in 1820 and written by Sir Walter Scott. In that novel there is a haunting "White Lady of Avenel" which may have captured Hughes' imagination.

Location

The small town of Avenel is located 127 km north of Melbourne between Seymour and Euroa and just to the west of the Hume Freeway

Population 1,048

History

- The area was first settled in 1838 by Henry Kent Hughes who named his property 'Avenel'. The creek is named after him.
- In 1839 the first Overland Mail from Melbourne to Sydney crossed the ford at Hughes Creek.
- A timber bridge across Hughes Creek was opened in 1847.
- The township was established in 1849 when the government offered land for sale adjacent a ford over Hughes Creek.
- In 1855 the Royal Mail Hotel was completed. It became an important stop for Cobb & Co coaches.
- Avenel grew rapidly as gold prospectors headed north to the Beechworth goldfields.
- A post office was opened in 1858.
- By 1859 a substantial stone bridge had been built to meet the needs of the increased traffic.
- In 1860 John Kelly, Ned Kelly's father, brought his family to live in Avenel. Ned lived in the town from the age of 8 until his father died when he was only 12.
- In 1864 Ned Kelly saved a boy from drowning in the local creek.

Royal Mail Hotel built in 1847

- The railway reached the town in 1872. The town became an important loading point for wheat being shipped to Melbourne.
- By 1880 the town had a flour mill and a grain store.
- Today it is quiet town been by-passed.
- The associations with Ned Kelly are its primary appeal.

The Old Sydney Road Bridge and Ned Kelly

The first Overland Mail travelled from Melbourne to Sydney in 1839. It followed a route known as the Old Sydney Road which had been created by drovers and bullock wagons. The road crossed Hughes Creek at a shallow, sandy ford which became a camping place for teamsters. In 1847 a timber bridge was built across the creek and then in 1859 a six-arch stone bridge was built by Hugh Dalrymple for the Victorian Board of Land and Works. The new bridge was a response to the goldrush to Beechworth which had seen the traffic on the road increase dramatically. The bridge was decommissioned in 1969.

Avenel's most famous citizen was Ned Kelly. In the early 1860s Kelly's father, John Kelly, took the entire family to live in Avenel. Ned lived in the town from the age of 8 until his father died when he was only 12. It is widely accepted that Ned saved a boy named Richard Shelton from drowning in Hughes Creek in 1864. Ned was only ten at the time. He was subsequently rewarded with a green sash which he wore at Glenrowan when he dressed in his infamous armour. The sash is on display in Benalla.

Avenel Cemetery and the Grave of John (Red) Kelly

The grave of father to the infamous Ned Kelly, 'Red' Kelly's final resting place can be found in the Avenel Cemetery. John 'Red' Kelly passed away in 1866 at an age of 45 shortly after being released from 6 months in jail for the charge of 'unlawful possession of a cow hide'. The plaque on the Ned Kelly Touring Route at the Avenel Cemetery records The Avenel Days: "Ned Kelly's father, John 'Red' Kelly, aged 45, was laid to rest in the cemetery on 28 December 1866. Red had arrived in Van Diemen's Land in 1842 having been sentenced in Ireland to seven years transportation. Red had few successes in his life. He was a criminal, an unsuccessful farmer and land speculator, and was barely able to provide for his family. Despite this he was loved by his wife and seven children up until his death at the early age of 45."

His death was reported and signed by his son Edward "Ned" Kelly who, while not yet 12 years of age, was to take over as the man of the house. John Kelly was baptised on 20th February 1820, in Moyglass Church in the county of Tipperary, Ireland.

Royal Mail Hotel

The Victorian Heritage Register records that the Former Royal Hotel, located at 26 Henry Street, "was constructed near the bridge over Hughes Creek by James Hilt in 1855-56 and originally operated as a store before Hilt was granted a District Publicans licence in 1857. The strategic location of the hotel ensured its popularity and the hotel was further buoyed by the increase in coach activity between Melbourne and the gold town of Beechworth." It explains the Hotel's historic significance as "a prominent 1850s coach staging post on route to the Beechworth goldfields and the early overland route to Sydney, and remains a critical element in the understanding of the now relatively isolated old portion of the town of Avenel. The location of the hotel near the site of the first bridge over Hughes Creek and the substantial stone bridge which had replaced it is a significant reminder of the short-lived commercial importance of the old town and its subsequent decline following the construction of the railway station one and half kilometres to the north in the early 1870s. The Royal Mail Hotel is of architectural significance as a verandahed country hotel in the Victorian Georgian style which retains much of its original external form and detail and some internal finishes. The hotel has splayed corner entrance characteristic of hotels of the period, and retains, unusually for a hotel building of its age, varied remnants of early interior finishes and wallpapers."

Harvest Home Boutique Hotel

Built in 1873, the Harvest Home Boutique Hotel is a well-maintained bed and breakfast where visitors can stay in rooms with 18-foot high (5.48 metres) pressed metal ceilings and an elegant Victorian-era dining room.

JOKE OF THE WEEK. Kids Banging on Bins

Everyday this old gentleman would be wakened by some local kids banging on some trash bins in the alley outside his house and yelling.

One day the old gentleman went out and said "I really love your youthful energy and joy you bring here - I am so entertained by you all! here, let me pay you each a dollar for your efforts," and he gave them a dollar.

The next morning, as soon as the kids showed up in his alley way, he went out again, greeted them warmly and paid them another dollar each for bringing joy and entertainment into his life.

And so on for a week or ten days.

Then one day, he stopped going out, greeting the kids and paying them.

The kids were like 'what the heck', the old codger expects us to show up and entertain him for free?

And stopped going.

"I love you, sweetheart."

A group of women were at a seminar on how to live in a loving relationship with their husbands. The women were asked, "How many of you love your husband?"

All the women raised their hands. Then they were asked, "When was the last time you told your husband you loved him?" Some of the women answered today, a few yesterday, and some couldn't remember.

The women were then told to take out their mobile phones and text their husband: "I love you, sweetheart."

Next the women were instructed to exchange phones with another woman and read aloud the text message they received in response to their message.

Here are 11 of the replies: (If you have been married for quite a while, you'll understand these replies are a sign of true love. Who else would reply in such a sincere and honest way?)

1. Who the hell is this?
2. Eh?... Mother of my children, are you sick or what?
3. Yeah, and I love you too. What's wrong?
4. What now? Did you wreck the car again?
5. I don't understand what you mean???
